

Every Heart - from The Ferment

Lyrics by Mollie Edsell

Chorus:

in the dark
there will be singing

in the dark
we're the bells
ringing

every heart
bears a cross

or every heart
faces sentencing

and I know the cross I'll bear

I'll bring it everywhere

Verse:

to those of us still out there swarming clouded air they know just how we walk and talk and even what we wear

beneath your coat of arms and underneath their stare are seeds of what you sow to make the fight more fair

Chorus:

in the dark
there will be
singing

in the dark
we're the bells
ringing

every heart
knows a loss of freedom in some way

so every heart has something to gain

And I know the loss you bear

I bring it everywhere
